

Steven McGilberry is the managing partner of McGilberry & Shirer, LLP. He's a native Texan, who received his Doctor of Jurisprudence from the University of Houston Law Center in just two years, and his Bachelor of Arts and Sciences with Honors from the University of Texas at Austin. Steven has been practicing personal injury law since 1978 and is a member of the American Bar Association, the Dallas and Texas Trial Lawyers Associations and the Association of Trial Lawyers of America. Steven McGilberry is not board certified by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization.

William L. (Bill) Shirer is board certified in personal injury trial law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization. In order to be board certified, an attorney must have substantial trial experience as well as pass a written exam covering various aspects of personal injury cases. In Texas, only about 2% of all attorneys are board certified in personal injury trial law. Bill received both his bachelor of Business Administration and his Doctor of Jurisprudence (1986) from the University of Texas at Austin. Bill is a member of the American Bar Association, the Dallas and Texas Trial Lawyers Associations and the Association of Trial Lawyers of America.

What Sets Us Apart

We charge lower fees (our fee percentage stays at 33%, even if the case goes to trial or is appealed. Most firms increase their fees to 40 or 45 %).

No Charge for Property Damage: We assist you with your property damage claim, and we charge nothing on any property damage recovery.

Cases are handled by the attorneys, not legal assistants.

Personal Service: We, the attorneys, talk personally with you regarding the substantive aspects of your case.

Phone calls are returned promptly.

Doctor referrals can be provided.

We provide straight answers.

We're easy to talk to.

About the Firm

If an attorney does not specialize in personal injury cases, he or she may not have the experience, the skills and the special knowledge that is necessary to succeed. Steven McGilberry and Bill Shirer have more than 43 years of combined specialization in personal injury law. Moreover, Bill Shirer is board certified in personal injury trial law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization. (Only 2% of all Texas attorneys are board certified in personal injury trial law.)

In the last ten years, more than 3,000 victims of motor vehicle accidents, defective products, premises liability claims and insurance disputes have trusted McGilberry & Shirer, LLP to properly handle their claims. We know how to get the job done right.

No charge for initial

Personal Service

Personal injuries are financially difficult as well as physically and emotionally traumatic.

Even more unfortunate, the process of finding good counsel can be almost as stressful as the incident and injuries itself. You may find yourself talking to assistants or others who aren't even qualified to discuss your case.

With us, when you call, you will talk with either Steven McGilberry or Bill Shirer regarding your case. We'll offer a quick and honest evaluation of your situation, and, if we can't help you, we'll refer you to attorneys who can.

If you retain McGilberry & Shirer, the personal contact that began with your initial phone call and visit continues through to the end of your case. All substantive communications regarding your case including the facts, medical treatment, status, predicted outcome, settlement negotiations, etc. will be between you and the attorneys, and not a paralegal or administrative person.
